A Medigap Primer

Medicare is a federal health insurance program for people age 65 or older, younger people with disabilities and people with end-stage renal disease (permanent kidney failure requiring dialysis or transplant). Medigap insurance is designed to supplement Medicare's benefits and is regulated by federal and state law.

Medigap must be clearly identified as Medicare supplement insurance and it must provide specific benefits that help fill gaps in Medicare coverage. Other kinds of insurance may help with out-of-pocket health care costs, but they do not qualify as Medigap plans.

Standard Medigap Plans

To make it easier for consumers to comparison shop for Medigap insurance, Kentucky limits the number of different Medigap policies that can be sold to no more than 12 standard Medigap plans with two additional high-deductible plans added.

They have letter designations ranging from "A" through "L" (there are two F and J plans). Plan A is the "basic" benefit package. The other plans include the basic package plus a different combination of additional benefits. Plan J provides the most coverage of all the plans. Each plan covers specific expenses either not covered or not fully covered by Medicare. Insurance companies are not permitted to change the benefits or the letter designations of any plan.

Medigap insurers must make Plan A available if they are going to sell any Medigap plans in Kentucky. Insurers are not required to offer any of the other plans, but most offer several plans from which to choose and some offer all 12 plus the two high-deductible plans. Insurers can decide which of the optional plans they will sell as long as the plans they select have been approved for sale in Kentucky by the Kentucky Department of Insurance.

Medigap Premiums

Medicare supplement policies sold after January 1992 are standardized. There are no benefit differences in these standard plans

Types of private health insurance that supplement Medicare

If you decide you need more insurance, there are private insurance policies available to help pay health care expenses not paid by Medicare. The basic types of coverage include:

1. Medigap policies that pay when Medicare does not fully pay for a covered service or that pay for services not covered by Medicare.
2. Managed-care plans such as a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO).
3. Nursing home, long-term care or home health care policies that pay cash amounts for each day of covered nursing home or at-home care.
4. Hospital indemnity policies that pay cash amounts for each day of in-patient hospital services.
5. Specified disease policies that pay only if you need treatment for the insured disease, such as cancer, heart disease, etc.

among insurance carriers. (Benefits in plans issued prior to 1992 may differ somewhat from company to company.)

Although the benefits are identical for standardized Medigap plans, the premiums may vary greatly from one company to another and from area to area.

Insurance companies use three different methods to calculate premiums: issue age, attained age, and no age rating, also referred to as community rating.

If your company uses the issue age method, your premium will not increase due to aging. If it uses the attained age method, your premium will automatically increase as you age. Under the no age rating method, everyone pays the same premium regardless of age. Insurers may file for rate increases with any of these rating methods. All rates and rate increases must be approved by the Kentucky Department of Insurance before they may be used by your insurer.

Guaranteed Renewable

All standard Medigap policies are guaranteed renewable. This means that the insurance company cannot refuse to renew your policy unless you do not pay the premiums or you made material misrepresentations on your application.

What Medigap Plans Cover

Medigap policies pay most, if not all, Medicare co-insurance amounts, and may provide coverage for Medicare's deductibles. Some of the 12 standard plans pay for services not covered by Medicare such as outpatient prescription drugs, preventive screening and emergency medical care while traveling outside the United States. Some plans also cover health care provider charges that are in excess of Medicare's approved amount, and pay for care in your home.

An important point to remember: providers (physicians, medical suppliers) may not always file claims on Medicare supplement insurance. It is your responsibility to make sure the claims are filed.

Tips for buying Medigap

1. When replacing an existing policy:
 - Do not cancel the old one until the new one is in force.
 - Be sure to state in the application that you are replacing your old policy. (It is illegal for an insurer to sell a consumer more than one Medicare supplement policy.)
2. Answer all health questions yourself and be sure your responses are accurate.
3. Remember that once you receive your policy, you have a 30-day "free-look" period during which you can return the policy for a full refund.
4. When you purchase your policy from an insurance agent, get addresses and telephone numbers for the agent and the company.
5. When you purchase a Medicare supplement policy, always use a check made payable to the insurance company:
 - Do not make the check payable to the insurance agent.
 - Do not pay with cash.

Long-Term Care Insurance

Long-term care insurance is a form of health insurance that provides coverage for nursing home care for at least a year or longer. There are short-term nursing home policies that provide benefits for less than 12 months.

Purchasing long-term care insurance may not be a good idea if:

- You can't afford the premiums now or in the future
- You have limited assets
- Your only source of income is a Social Security benefit or Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- You often have trouble paying for utilities, food, medicine, or other important needs

You should CONSIDER buying long-term care insurance if:

- You have significant assets and income
- You want to protect some of your assets and income
- You want to pay for your own care
- You want to stay independent of the support of others

Some important points:

1. Long-term care policies sold today cannot require prior hospitalization or a higher level of institutional care before providing nursing home benefits.
2. The policy must provide a 30-day "free-look" provision.
3. A policy issued to an individual must be either guaranteed renewable or non-cancellable:
 - Guaranteed renewable means the insurer may not terminate your coverage except for fraud or failure to pay premiums. However, the insurer may increase your premiums after obtaining approval from the Department of Insurance.

- Non-cancellable means the insurer may not terminate your coverage except for your failure to pay premiums or fraud, and the insurer may not increase your premiums beyond those specified in your policy.
4. Long-term care policies cannot be canceled or terminated because of age or deterioration of health.
 5. A final note: be sure the company you're dealing with is financially secure.

Life Settlements and Investments

A life settlement is the sale of a life insurance policy to a third party. The owner of the life insurance policy sells it for less than the full amount of the death benefit. The buyer becomes the new owner and/or beneficiary, pays all future premiums and collects the death benefit when the insured dies.

People decide to sell their policies for many reasons. A settlement may or may not be the right choice for you.

Life investment is investing or buying a life settlement contract.

You should proceed cautiously with full information when either selling a policy or investing in a life settlement. For detailed information, contact the Department of Insurance and ask for a copy of the Kentucky Consumer Guide to Understanding Life Settlements. The publication is also online at the Department of Insurance Web site under Publications.
